

Dorothy Dix Finds New Species of Man Who Picks Out Sensible Woman, Not Doll, For His Wife

One Wants Woman With Brains, She Finds, While Another Loves an Artist Whom He Wants to Test Out Her Own Art and Her Strength of Love Before Wedlock.

BY DOROTHY DIX.
World's Highest Paid Woman Writer.
WE have grown so accustomed to the new woman that she has ceased to be a novelty. We have also grown inured to the new child—heaven help us—who has to have the best of everything and who monopolizes the conversation, and holds the center of the stage generally. Are we now to have the new man, and above all the new husband, with different tastes in women and different ideals of wisely conduct from those cherished by his sex from Adam to Wilson?

It looks that way. More, I myself, have been privileged to gaze upon and hold speech with two of this new species.

Movie Producer.
The first new man was, oddly enough, a successful movie picture producer. Perhaps he was fed up, as our English cousins say, on feminine pulchritude and was satiated with large, lovely eyes that didn't have a ray of intelligence in them, and a weary of little heads and golden or raven black tresses were nothing but solid ivory. Anyway, this is what the man said to me in regard to his demands in a wife:

"I don't care a rap for beauty. When I go to choose a wife I am not going to take a second glance at her complexion, or notice the color of her eyes or her hair. Neither do I care whether she is fat or thin. The only thing that I am going to look for in a wife is brains.

"I don't mean canned college brains, either. Any girl with a good memory can grind through college and acquire enough textbook knowledge to entitle her to a degree. Why, some of the stupidest women and the biggest bores I have ever met were college graduates who were entitled to tack half a dozen letters after their names! No, when I speak of a woman having brains I mean a woman who has got native intelligence, a quick wit, a keen comprehension and a mental alertness that makes her keep always in touch with everything that's going on in the world.

Ideal of a Wife.
That's the kind of a woman who makes a wife of whom a man never grows tired. Conversation in the home of a woman like that never slumps down into a dreary recital of the servants' imperfections, the high cost of butcher's meat and the misdeeds of the children. That kind of a woman can't go down town without seeing a dozen funny little things that make good stories.

"SHE always read the last book and has seen the last play, and she can discuss them interestingly with her husband if he has had time to read and see them, too, and if he hasn't, she can tell him all about them so that he won't miss a single one of their good points. Why, I've got a woman friend now that does that for me. She reads the books I can't, and administers their contents to me in sort of predigested literary capsules that are extremely stimulating and strengthening to my mind. Do you suppose any man would ever yawn in the face of a wife who has sense enough to keep him entertained? Well I guess not.

Dish-Water Conversation.
"It's the women who hand out lukewarm, dish-water conversation as the only refreshments at home who drive their husbands out into the wicked world to try to find some sort of diversion that has a little pep and ginger in it. I've often wondered that women never took a tip from the old tale of Scheherazade, who saved her own life, after all her beautiful predecessors had been slain, by keeping her bloodthirsty old guy of a husband so fascinated by her conversation that he hung on her words for a thousand and one nights. Believe me, as a permanent attraction, brains have got beauty lashed to the mast every time.

"Then, too, if I marry a woman with gray matter in her head I shall be sure of domestic happiness, because I will be married to a reasonable creature who will be willing to take matrimony on a give-and-take basis. The only hopeless people in the world are fools. The less brains people have the more full of prejudices they are, the more determined they are to have their own way, the more immovable they are in their point of view. Therefore, when I marry an intelligent woman I shall eliminate the sickening hopelessness of having to deal with a wife who can never get any angle on a subject but her own who goes into hysterics every time she is crossed.

To Get a Companion.
"As to whether my wife is domestic or not I do not greatly care. There are plenty of good hotels and trained servants to minister to my physical needs. I shall not marry to get a cook but a companion, and as for all of the old looking-up-to-your husband stuff and the sacrificing wife business, I'll pass that up, too.

"I've none of the slave owner instincts. I want my wife to feel free and independent, to develop whatever ability she has and to feel that in marrying me she got a pal instead of a boss. Only an intelligent woman can make a good wife, and that's why I'm going to consider the inside instead of the outside of a maiden's head when I get married."

THE other, New Man, is engaged to a girl who has a wonderful voice that she has spent many years and a fortune in cultivating. The man is deeply and sincerely in love with the girl, but instead of urging her to marry him at once and give up all thought of the public career, of which she has dreamed for so many years, he is putting off their marriage until after the girl has tested out her talent and is absolutely sure of her own heart.

"I might tell Marian," he said, "that home making is a woman's predestined career, that in the end the voice of love is more satisfactory than the applause of the multitude, and that she had better croon lullabies over her babies than have a theater rise at her. She would believe me and she would willingly marry me now.

Reaction Would Come.
"But the reaction would come, and as she went about her domestic duties she would think with bitterness and regret of the career that she had thrown away and the sacrifices she had made for me and she would eat her heart out with unavailing longing for the opportunity that she had let slip. I am not going to let her do this. I want her to go on with her studies and to have her chance just as if I had not come into her life.

"Perhaps she will find out that her talent is not as great as she thought it was, and she will come to me gladly, and my love will make up to her for her disappointment. Perhaps she will succeed. If she does and will marry me, I will not stand between her and her career. I want her to go on and make the most of her talent. A woman who marries a gifted man is not selfish enough to require him to sacrifice his genius on the altar of domesticity. Why should a man not be big enough and love a woman enough to be willing to share her gifts with the world and to glory in her success?

Want Her to Be Happy.
"I love Marian enough to want her to have a happy life. That is not possible unless she is able to express herself along her own individual lines. I have my profession, why should she not have hers?

"Marriage is a long journey. People should be very sure that the two who elect to take it together know their own hearts before they start off. Therefore, I am considering Marian's point of view even more than my own."

Thus spoke these two New Men to me. And I thought that if they were the forerunners of a new type of men who picked out sensible women instead of pretty fools for wives and considered the woman's side of matrimony, we would soon be able to dispense with the "marriage is a failure" slogan.

DELICATESSEN CLERKS STRIKE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Clerks employed in more than 3,000 delicatessen shops in New York City are on strike today to enforce a demand for increased wages and shorter working hours. The strikers demand an increase of $4 per week over their wages of $20 and a ten-hour day instead of the present scale of from fourteen to sixteen hours.

Burglars Steal From Show Case

Burglars are becoming unusually bold in Oklahoma City. A showcase on the sidewalk in front of 128½ West Main street was broken into last night and a woman's dress, suit, coat and a fur neck piece and muff were stolen. A shirt-waist and a petticoat were left in the case. The articles belonged to Peyton and company, women's outfitters. The lock on the rear of the case was pried off.

The burglary was committed sometime between 11 o'clock last night and 7 o'clock this morning. The report at the police station also shows that a burglary occurred at 1230 West Second street and that a large quantity of "stuff" which was moved from the house to the yard was left there by the burglars. Police are investigating both cases.

Russo-German Pact Makes No Mention of Moving Troops

PETROGRAD, Thursday, Dec. 6.—The text of the armistice agreement between the sixty-seventh Russian infantry division and the thirty-first German infantry division is printed by the Pravda. It does not contain a word concerning the non-transference of German troops to other fronts.

"I see a girl has sued a man for calling her a chicken." "Goodness! I wonder what she'd have done if he had called her 'an old hen'?"

Maywood Revival Meeting Success

Evangelist Bob Whiston, conducting revival services at the Maywood Christian church, Ninth street and Phillips, is meeting with much success, according to Rev. L. H. Otto, pastor of the church. Three hundred are expected at Sunday school next Sunday and 400 at the rally planned for the next Sunday, he said. Mr. Whiston will lecture on "Problems" Sunday morning.

WOMEN ON THE BATTLEFIELD

The work of women on the battlefield or in the hospitals, nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded or dying, is a very small part of what women do to promote a country's fighting capacity.

Many of our American women are not strong enough to endure these hardships. Thousands of women in the United States have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of women's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells most widely today, because it is made without alcohol or narcotics. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. Write Dr. Pierce in full confidence, and send 10c for trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. "Favorite Prescription" is sold by all druggists in tablet form, sixty cents. A trial of this reliable herbal tonic and nerve will convince you.—Adv.
